TO : Mr. W. C. Sullivan

DATE: March 14, 1963

FROM : [REDACTED]

SUBJECT: "THE CRAFT OF INTELLIGENCE"
BY ALLEN W. DULLES

Reference is made to memorandum dated March 1, 1963, from Mr. Smith to Mr. Sullivan. We reviewed Dulles' article under the above caption which is to appear in the Encyclopedia Britannica. Liaison was instructed to discreetly inform Dulles concerning certain inaccuracies and to tactfully suggest the inclusion of a sentence regarding the Bureau's internal security jurisdiction.

Agent Papich met with Dulles on March 13, 1963. Dulles readily agreed to include a sentence reading along the lines, "The FBI has jurisdiction over security matters involving espionage, sabotage, and subversive activities within the United States." He expressed his appreciation for the inaccuracies which we had detected and stated that he would make the necessary corrections.

One of the observations which we made pertains to a statement in Dulles' article indicating that [REDACTED] had volunteered his services to the Bureau. Dulles was told that this was not the true situation and that [REDACTED] cooperation was actually achieved after several days of interviewing. Dulles agreed to make the necessary corrections.

Dulles stated that he had returned from a West Coast trip much later than he expected and he might run into a problem in making the necessary corrections for the article in the Encyclopedia Britannica. He stated that if printing hadn't started, the corrections could be made. With regard to the forthcoming article in Harpers magazine and the book which is being published under the same title, Dulles advised that corrections easily could be made.

Enclosed herewith is a document containing the first-page proofs of "The Craft of Intelligence" written by Allen Dulles for the 1963 issue of Encyclopedia Britannica. This document was furnished to Agent Papich on February 22, 1963, by Dulles for the Bureau's use. He invited any suggestions or observations which we desire to make. The enclosed writing is only a reproduction of first-page proofs and according to Dulles there will be some changes and corrections before the final printing. In March, 1963, Harpers magazine will feature a synopsisized version of the enclosure. In April or May of this year a book under the same title will appear and will be more detailed.

There is also enclosed a copy of a February 17, 1963, Encyclopedia Britannica news release on the Dulles article.

If approved, the enclosure will be reviewed by the Central Research Section upon the completion of which recommendations will be made regarding any comments which we may desire to pass on to Dulles.

BY ALLEN W. DULLES*Book*SYNOPSIS:

D
Allen W. Dulles article reviewed by Domestic Intelligence Division. It is comprehensive discussion of intelligence and counterintelligence techniques. Mentions Bureau favorably but it is suggested that sentence regarding Bureau's internal security jurisdiction be inserted. Discrepancies noted in facts contained in article. Dulles concludes with defense of CIA and declares our liberties are not threatened by our intelligence organization but rather by the failure to understand nature of dangers facing us throughout the world today.

RECOMMENDATION:

That Liaison recontact Dulles, discreetly inform him of the inaccuracies we have noted in these page proofs, and tactfully suggest the inclusion of the additional sentence regarding the Bureau's internal security jurisdiction.

Memo Smith to Sullivan
Re: "THE CRAFT OF INTELLIGENCE"

DETAILS:

Reference is made to memo 2/25/63, [] Sullivan, same caption, concerning page proofs of captioned article (attached) which is to be published in 1963 issue of Encyclopaedia Britannica. Dulles made copy of page proofs available to Liaison Agent and referenced memo approved our review of them in order to submit recommendations regarding comments we may desire to pass on to Dulles. b6 b7C

The Dulles article has been reviewed by the Espionage and Central Research Sections of the Domestic Intelligence Division. It is a comprehensive view of intelligence-gathering and counterintelligence techniques which includes background relating to mythology, Biblical times, medieval history, American history, and modern times, as well as specific references to cases involving the Axis powers and the communists. Dulles states that there are sound reasons for not divulging any intelligence secrets and he lays the ground rules for his discussion by declaring: "However, the discipline and techniques--what we call the tradecraft of intelligence--are widely known in the profession, whatever the nationality of the service may be. A discussion of this reveals no secrets."

References to FBI

Dulles refers to the FBI several times (pgs. 16, 34, 35, and 37). None of these references is unfavorable. Since he refers to the FBI's jurisdiction over internal security as distinguished from that of the Central Intelligence Agency (CIA), it is believed that it would be appropriate to suggest that, on page 16 where he mentions this difference for the first time, he could spell out the distinction clearly by inserting one sentence regarding the Bureau's security jurisdiction. In this connection, Dulles writes (page 16, right column, line 3); "The spheres of operation of the Central Intelligence Agency on the one hand and of the Federal Bureau of Investigation on the other are quite distinct." It is believed that this statement should be followed by this sentence: "The FBI has jurisdiction over security matters involving espionage, sabotage, and subversive activities within the United States."

It is noted that the article contains no mention of the Bureau's Special Intelligence Service (SIS) during World War II. However, in view of Dulles' statement (p. 16, left column, last complete paragraph) that an intelligence service in a free society should never become involved in domestic security matters and that in totalitarian systems the intelligence function is often combined with internal security operations, it is not believed to be desirable to suggest that he include a reference to SIS.

Specific Inaccuracies

The Espionage Section has noted that the article contains the following inaccuracies:

Comment that investigations of personnel with credentials from Allied countries were not always conducted as thoroughly as in the case of U.S. citizens (refers to Klaus Fuchs and Bruno Pontecorvo) is incorrect and could reflect on Bureau. The fact is that no background checks were made on such people as the United States accepted the assurances of the country of citizenship that its people were cleared.

Comment is made that, because of information furnished by [redacted] Soviet espionage attempts to procure atom-bomb secrets were stopped. This is vastly overstated. [redacted] defection did not stop Soviet atom-bomb espionage. It resulted in conviction of one spy in Britain,

Importance of Intelligence

The article declares that the Soviet Union has raised the art of espionage to an unprecedented height, while developing the collateral techniques of subversion, deception, and penetration, and that no other country has ever before attempted espionage on such a scale. A wide variety of intelligence and counterintelligence techniques are mentioned, including, photography, electronic devices, cryptography, physical surveillance, and double agents.

Dulles highlights the problems that a free society has in protecting itself against a communist adversary which has built up a formidable wall of security and secrecy, and he notes that more and more we must rely on intelligence operations to help provide strategic warning. He concludes the article with a defense of CIA against its critics who allege that there are not enough controls on the Agency and he argues against the establishment of a "watchdog" committee. Dulles states flatly, "It is not by our intelligence organization that our liberties will be threatened, but rather by our failure to understand the nature of the dangers facing us throughout the world today."

Mr. Dulles' appearance on the above program was monitored at 2:30 p. m. on 6-30-63. He was interviewed by two newsmen and presented with a series of questions dealing with intelligence matters. The high lights of the program were noted as follows:

QUESTION: How good is Russian intelligence compared with ours?

ANSWER: Our intelligence is superior to Russian's in some respects and is getting better but the Russians probably have a better massive coverage and penetration. The Russians operate their intelligence apparatus on a world-wide basis against almost all countries.

QUESTION: How many Russian spies are in this country?

ANSWER: Dulles stated he did not have this information and that the interviewers should realize that internal security of the United States is within the jurisdiction of Mr. Hoover and the FBI. He noted that the CIA was concerned only with foreign intelligence and that information it obtained relating to United States' internal security was passed on to the FBI. He noted as an example the Rudolf Abel case, stating that the facts concerning this matter were first picked up by CIA through a foreign contact and furnished to the FBI, which subsequently arrested Abel.

QUESTION: Do you regard members of the CP, USA as potential spies?

ANSWER: Dulles stated that he did not, as a general rule, consider communists in this country as potential spies as they are not trained and the communists wish to keep their Party divorced from any activity of this nature. He noted, however, there have been exceptions to this general rule.

FORMER CIA DIRECTOR

Dulles furnished the following to Agent Papich on 10/20/63.

He advised that he is scheduled to appear as a speaker at the New York Herald Tribune Forum in the near future. His talk will be predicated on his book, "The Craft of Intelligence." Dulles has learned that another speaker scheduled for this forum at the same time is Jessica Lucy Mitford, the author of the recently published book "American Way of Death," which is an attack on the morticians in the country. Dulles stated that he was concerned because it is his understanding that Mitford has a communist background. He has given some consideration to canceling his appearance but he now feels such an act on his part will give the communists ammunition for propaganda. As of 10/20/63, Dulles planned to appear at the forum.

Re: MR. ALLEN W. DULLES

QUESTION: Will the Profumo case have any repercussions in this country, and is it, in Dulles' opinion, a vice case or espionage case?

ANSWER: Dulles stated he considered this to be a vice case rather than an espionage matter and that while most of the information he has concerning it has been received through press reports, he does not believe it will stir up any repercussions in this country. In referring to the sexual angle in this case, he was asked whether United States Intelligence ever uses sex as a weapon in obtaining data. He declined to discuss this matter but indicated that U. S. Intelligence makes very little use of this type of thing.

QUESTION: In view of the series of recent security cases turned up in Britain, has British security deteriorated to the point where we should be wary of furnishing them information?

ANSWER: He believes that the security services of Britain are competent and the fact that several recent spy cases have turned up indicates that the British are alert.

QUESTION: How useful is the polygraph in clearing persons for security positions?

ANSWER: Dulles stated that the polygraph is useful for indicating weaknesses. He said that CIA has used the polygraph effectively, particularly in connection with inquiry about homosexuality, but that not everyone in CIA has been required to take polygraph examinations. He said that during his tenure as Director of CIA, new employees were generally asked to take these examinations, but it was not always a requirement.

QUESTION: Was the CIA responsible for the Cuban Bay of Pigs fiasco?

ANSWER: Dulles stated that President Kennedy had assumed responsibility for this incident and had asked that others connected with Government not comment concerning the matter; therefore, he had never made any statement concerning it. Dulles stated that Russian subversion in Latin America is a great danger at present because the Russians are able to use Cuba as a base from which to launch their operations.

OBSERVATIONS:

The effectiveness of Mr. Dulles on the program was somewhat dimmed by the fact that he had to point out on several occasions that he did not know the current situation in the CIA but could only fall back on what knowledge he had when he was Director. He had little of real importance to say during the program and the discussion was only moderately informative.

There is attached a clipping from the 7-1-63, issue of "The Washington Post" concerning this interview.

Dulles Discusses Spying Techniques, Including Sex

Herald Tribune News Service

Allen Dulles, former director of the Central Intelligence Agency, dipped into his memory bag yesterday to discuss various aspects of espionage. He ranged from the use of sex as a lure, to lie-detectors as a safeguard.

In a wide-ranging interview on "Issues and Answers" (WMAL-TV, ABC), he said:

• "As long as there is sex, it is going to be used" in intelligence work.

• "No one is ever convicted, or cleared, just on a polygraph test, a lie-detector test. It is one of the important elements, however, in giving one clues as to where there may be weaknesses."

• "I am inclined to think that Khrushchev wouldn't want to entrust too many nuclear warheads to his friend, Castro. I don't think he would trust him that far."

The sex angle was introduced by questions on Britain's current Profumo case. Dulles said he considered the case primarily a vice matter, but added that "apparently an attempt was made to get certain types of information."

In a sarcastic reference to Soviet intelligence, he went on to declare:

"I must say the question they (the Russians), apparently gave the young lady to ask, as to when the Germans were going to get the atomic bomb, was not a very penetrating intelligence question to ask."

Dulles said the Profumo case was no indication of laxness by British intelligence, in his opinion. Most British departments, he explained, including the Foreign Office and Defense Ministry, select their own personnel, with British intelligence excluded from security checks. The latter is usually called in, he said, only "on the crash landings."

Asked whether United States intelligence "ever uses sex as a bait to get information," Dulles replied that "I don't discuss those matters very much."

In any event, his questioner pressed, the U. S. doesn't "use it as widely as the Soviets do?"

"No, we certainly do not," Dulles answered. "We recognize the existence of sex, and the attraction of sex, though," he added.

Red Take-Overs Explained

By the Associated Press

Durham, N.H.

The former director of the United States Central Intelligence Agency says the same Soviet apparatus which took over Czechoslovakia and Cuba "is working on a dozen or more countries today."

Allen W. Dulles, delivering a convocation lecture Tuesday at the University of New Hampshire, listed four elements of the Soviet apparatus, as follows:

1. "The Communist Party system. Nikita Khrushchev boasts the Communists have 90 parties around the world, and over 70 are in the free world.

2. "The World Federation of Trade Unions, capable of stopping production in some countries.

3. "Front organizations, such as peace congresses, the Youth Congress, and Women's Congress.

4. "The Soviet Secret Service."

Making what a university official said was his first public speech since leaving the intelligence agency, Mr. Dulles said:

"This is the apparatus which took over Czechoslovakia 15 years ago and then Cuba right under our noses in the last few years, and it is working on a dozen or more countries today."

He did not list those countries.

Mr. Dulles also said, "There is a rift, a pretty serious ideological rift between Soviet Russia and [Communist] China, but generally when it comes to dealing with the free world, particularly the United States, they get together.

"We will have an interesting show of that pretty soon in Laos. We'll see there whether the Soviet Union and China are able to work together or not."

On Cuba, Mr. Dulles said:

"I have thought a great deal about Cuba, and there is still a good deal that isn't known about the situation, but I can't quite see what one could have done at any particular time which would have been surely effective even if one had had all the knowledge about Castro's Communist leanings many years ago."

He also said, "Our intelligence must make certain covert moves to defeat the activities going on in the country which is threatened with infiltration.

"If the threatened country's government already is so infiltrated it won't cooperate, then you have a very difficult situation, and it is terribly important to move before that situation comes about."

Allen W. Dulles

UPI-21

(DULLES)
WASHINGTON--ALLEN W. DULLES, FORMER DIRECTOR OF THE CENTRAL INTELLIGENCE AGENCY, PREDICTED TODAY THAT THE CASTRO REGIME IN CUBA EVENTUALLY WILL BE OVERTHROWN.

"IT'S ONLY A QUESTION OF HOW IT WILL HAPPEN AND HOW SOON," SAID DULLES. "I'M AN OPTIMIST."

IN AN ARTICLE PUBLISHED IN FEBRUARY, DULLES HAD SAID THAT NO PEOPLE UNDER COMMUNIST RULE COULD CARRY OUT A SUCCESSFUL REVOLUTION. SUCH ATTEMPTS HAVE BEEN PROVED "INEFFECTIVE AND DISASTROUS," HE SAID.

DULLES DID NOT SAY WHY HE THOUGHT PREMIER FIDEL CASTRO WOULD BE OUSTED. HE WAS INTERVIEWED ON A TELEVISION PROGRAM ("GEORGETOWN UNIVERSITY FORUM--WTTC-TV) ABOUT HIS ARTICLE, "THE CRAFT OF INTELLIGENCE," APPEARING IN THE APRIL ISSUE OF HARPER'S MAGAZINE.

DULLES, WHO RETIRED IN 1962 AS CHIEF OF THE CIA, ALSO SAID HE DID NOT BELIEVE THE UNITED STATES HAD "GONE TOO FAR" IN DEFENSE SECRETARY ROBERT S. MCNAMARA'S TELEVISED BRIEFING IN FEBRUARY ON INTELLIGENCE ESTIMATES OF SOVIET STRENGTH IN CUBA.

"IT DIDN'T WORRY ME VERY PARTICULARLY," DULLES SAID. "WE WERE TELLING THE RUSSIANS WHAT THEY ALREADY KNEW" ABOUT U.S. INTELLIGENCE-GATHERING METHODS.

PRESIDENT KENNEDY HAD EXPRESSED CONCERN AT A NEWS CONFERENCE, AFTER MCNAMARA'S BRIEFING, THAT THE ADMINISTRATION HAD DISCLOSED TOO MUCH ABOUT ITS INTELLIGENCE WORK.

DULLES SAID HE BELIEVED THE U.S. INTELLIGENCE COMMUNITY MIGHT HAVE MISJUDGED SOVIET PREMIER NIKITA S. KHRUSHCHEV'S INTENTIONS IN CUBA BEFORE THE DISCOVERY OF SOVIET OFFENSIVE WEAPONS THERE.

BUT HE COMMENDED JOHN A. MCCONE, THE PRESENT CIA DIRECTOR, AS HAVING DONE A "VERY GOOD JOB" DURING THE CUBAN CRISIS.

IN THE HARPER'S ARTICLE, DULLES HAD SAID THAT IN OCTOBER, 1962, "CERTAINLY HERE HE (KHRUSHCHEV) MISESTIMATED--JUST AS SOME ON OUR SIDE HAD MISESTIMATED THAT KHRUSHCHEV WOULD NOT ATTEMPT TO PLACE OFFENSIVE WEAPONS IN CUBA, RIGHT UNDER OUR NOSE."

DULLES SAID THE "MOST DIFFICULT THING TO GET AROUND" IN INTELLIGENCE WORK IS THE PREJUDICES OF INDIVIDUALS. A GOOD EXAMPLE WAS PEARL HARBOR, HE SAID. U.S. OFFICIALS INSISTED THE JAPANESE WOULD BE FOOLISH TO ATTACK, HE SAID, ALTHOUGH THEY WERE FACED WITH PLENTY OF INTELLIGENCE DATA WHICH SUGGESTED THAT AN ATTACK WAS COMING.

Background:

An advance copy of captioned book was sent to the Director by the publisher, Harper & Row, New York City, which was acknowledged by the Crime Records Division by letter 9-13-63 and was then forwarded to the Domestic Intelligence Division for review. The book is an amplified version of a book-length article which appears in the 1963 edition of the Britannica Book of the Year. We reviewed page proofs of this article which Dulles had given us before the article was published and found the article favorable to the FBI.

Book Is Story of CIA:

The book is a detailed and lucid account of the intelligence and counter-intelligence techniques and practices utilized by men and nations from Biblical days to the present day. Actually, Dulles' book is, in a sense, the story of the Central Intelligence Agency (CIA), of which he was its long-time director and for which he naturally has high praise and respect.

Dulles traces the evolution of intelligence in the United States from the American Revolution to World War II. He tells how the need for a centralized national intelligence organization as a permanent agency of the Government became starkly apparent in the face of Soviet intransigence and aggression at the end of World War II, which culminated in the establishment of the CIA in 1947. The book shows that intelligence has come a long way since the time of the American Revolution when George Washington expended $17,000 on secret intelligence and ran operations out of his hat.

Memorandum for Mr. Sullivan
Re: BOOK REVIEW: THE CRAFT OF INTELLIGENCE
BY ALLEN DULLES
62-46855

The author describes the enormous, painstaking, and time-consuming task involved in planning, coordinating, and collecting intelligence, in conducting counterintelligence operations, and in processing intelligence information, the end product of which is so vital in the formation of national estimates and national policy.

Dulles explains the necessity for and the role of intelligence in the "cold war" of today's world by saying that "we are not really 'at peace' with them (the communists), and we have not been since Communism declared its own war on our system of government and life."

Dulles is not one to entertain fear that an intelligence or security service may endanger our freedoms, as some critics claim. He is confident that our free, open society and its constitutional safeguards will never permit a Secret police to take root in our Nation. "It is not our intelligence organization which threatens our liberties," he concludes. "The danger is rather that we will not be adequately informed of the perils which face us."

The book highlights the need for and the problems confronting the intelligence community in meeting and countering the mounting Soviet-bloc intelligence offensive directed against this country.

References to FBI:

A number of references are made in the book to the FBI (pages 42, 104, 115, 122, 128, 130, 157, 199, 206, 210, 233, 244, and 252), most of them dealing with espionage cases--German, Soviet, and satellite--in which the FBI played a leading or prominent part. All of these references are favorable and accurate.

Dulles states that the FBI and the CIA do not work against each other or in competition, but work very closely in the field of counterintelligence. "Relations between the two agencies," he says, are on a "wholly satisfactory basis. Each agency passes to the other all information that belongs to its special province. There is no failure of coordination." Dulles also mentions that the FBI has performed effective work in penetrating and neutralizing the Communist Party in the United States.

Dear Allen:

I have seen the article by Mr. William McCullam from the October 9th issue of the "New York Journal American."

All too frequently security agencies receive unwarranted criticism, and by the general nature of their work are unable to answer their critics. I was, therefore, all the more interested in reading your remarks, for they should furnish the public with a clearer insight into the many problems encountered.

Needless to say, all of us in the FBI appreciate your kind comments about our organization.

Sincerely,

Reference is made to the enclosed article which appeared in the 10/9/63 issue of the New York Journal American. This article captioned "CIA 'The Goat' for U. S. Blunders in Viet Nam," is based on an interview of Allen Dulles and relates to the criticism of CIA in Viet Nam. You may be interested in the following observations which were volunteered to Agent Papich by Dulles on 10/10/63.

Dulles stated that the referenced interview actually was only a part of a general discussion which he held with William McCullam concerning Dulles' book "The Craft of Intelligence." As the interview progressed, McCullam brought up the matter of CIA's alleged blundering in Viet Nam. Dulles stated that he then "took off" and made the statements attributed to him in the article. As indicated, Dulles took a very strong position that CIA was being made "The Goat" in the entire situation. He maintained very strongly that CIA has never initiated any operations without White House approval and that furthermore CIA "does not make policy." Dulles advised the Agent that he personally has been greatly perturbed because nobody has been coming to the defense of the intelligence officers who have been dedicating their time and lives to most complicated international problems. In his opinion, the "troops" in the intelligence business were not getting a fair treatment and he decided to show the other side of the story.

Dulles advised that in retrospect it might have been wiser for him to have consulted with the White House before he made the statements. He did not know that the activities of CIA in Viet Nam were going to be raised at the President's press conference held on the evening of 10/9/63. Dulles, nevertheless, expressed his pleasure that the President came to the defense of CIA.

Dulles also confided that he and McCone have been following different approaches with regard to dealings with the U. S. press.

Re: CENTRAL INTELLIGENCE AGENCY (CIA)

So far, McCone has followed the line of avoiding interviews with newspapermen. Dulles feels that in our form of society, it is absolutely necessary for an agency like CIA to periodically grant interviews to responsible writers. It is his feeling that this becomes necessary if the Agency is to protect its interests, bearing in mind that an intelligence agency in our country is continually being exposed to criticism and scrutiny.

It will be noted that the enclosed article includes statements concerning the U. S. Intelligence Board. Dulles identifies the members of this Board which includes the FBI. The article also includes the statements:

"Incidentally -- all reports to the contrary -- The CIA works very closely with the FBI in domestic security affairs. I have the highest regard for J. Edgar Hoover. Our relations have been excellent. He has a very fine highly competent group of men."

Dulles explained to the Liaison Agent that the article does not indicate the background for these particular statements. He advised that during the course of the interview, McCullam raised a question concerning the status of relations between the Bureau and CIA. Dulles responded as indicated although he pointed out that the language set forth was not absolutely accurate. He advised that he actually used the terminology "intelligence and security matters."

CIA 'The Goat' for it's

EX-CIA CHIEF ALLEN W. DULLES

By WILLIAM McCULLAM

Copyright, 1963 by N. Y. Journal-American

Allen W. Dulles, former director of the Central Intelligence Agency, charged today that the nation's multi-billion-dollar spy apparatus is being made "the goat" for American blundering in South Viet Nam.

"Occasionally the CIA has to be the goat," he said. "It looks like it has to be the goat again."

"Still—it may be better for the CIA to be tarred in the Vietnamese mess than the President of the United States or the Secretary of State."

Mr. Dulles made his statements in a personal interview at his suite in the Mayfair House, Park ave. and 65th st.

Speaking rapidly and bluntly, he also made the following major points in defending the controversial agency he headed from 1953 until his retirement just two years ago at the age of 68:

- Any disputes between the CIA, the State Department and military leaders involved in the war against Communist guerillas in South Viet Nam have been due to the lack of a clear-cut operational policy in Washington.

Blunders in Viet Nam

- What is needed in Saigon and Washington both is "more cooperation and less backbiting between officials of the U. S. agencies concerned."

- It is "nonsense" to refer to the CIA as a new third force in the government which spends billions in furtherance of its own secret policies and is accountable to no one, as alleged by its foes.

- No operations of a political nature ever have been mounted by the CIA without White House approval and there never has been a case where the agency has failed to go along with White House policy to the best of its ability.

Mr. Dulles, his blue eyes occasionally hinting at a controlled indignation, stabbed his points home with the stem of his pipe.

He referred frequently to his new book, "The Craft of Intelligence," published this week by Harper & Row, in which the brother of the late Secretary of State John Foster Dulles sums up his unique career as an international lawyer, diplomat and, for over eight years, as the nation's espionage chief.

"I will not discuss the situation in South Viet Nam in any detail because I know no more than I read in the papers," he said.

"But I hate to see the CIA accused as a trouble-maker and the morale of its members weakened by such charges as have been reported against Mr. Richardson in Saigon."

(John H. Richardson, CIA chief in South Viet Nam, was recalled to Washington for White House consultations several days ago. News reports declared he twice refused earlier to obey instructions from Ambassador Henry Cabot Lodge.)

"I doubt that Mr. Richardson refused to carry out orders from Mr. Lodge," Mr. Dulles declared firmly. "I doubt that very much. What I do believe is that the Ambassador has the right to request any new personnel he may want.

"The situation in Viet Nam is very difficult. There is a civil war going on. The government there is unstable and unpredictable. But it is wrong to accuse the CIA or its officials of trying to make policy.

"The CIA does not make policy. It is made by the President, the Secretary of State and the Secretary of Defense. Once they make a policy, it is the policy for everybody and there never has been a case where the CIA has failed to go along to the best of its ability.

"In Viet Nam, the trouble is there never has been a clear-cut policy for day to day operations in a rapidly changing situation."

AN OLD STORY

Asked about reports that U.S. officials and agencies in Viet Nam were divided on whether its members have all worked under the law.

"The prime function of the CIA is to gather facts, intelligence, on which policy naturally is largely based. But it is nonsense to say the CIA makes the policy or acts on its own convictions.

POLICY DECISION

"Policy is determined by the President after the CIA reports of its findings are studied by the U. S. Intelligence Board and the Board submits its own estimates to him. The CIA is on the Board, but so is the State Department, the Defense Intelligence Agency, the Air Force Intelligence, the Office of Naval Intelligence and the FBI, among others.

"Incidentally—all reports to the contrary—the CIA works very closely with the FBI in domestic security affairs. I have the highest regard for J. Edgar Hoover. Our relations have been excellent. He has a very fine highly competent group of men.

and serving in various philanthropic and business boards of directors, he is an avid reader of Ian Fleming spy stories.

"Intelligence work is thrilling and fascinating" he said, "but not usually as adventuresome as my friend Fleming describes it. So I read his books with a great deal of pleasure."

Assistant Director C. D. DeLoach advised me of his conversation with you today while en route to Washington. It was most thoughtful of you to mention our fine relationships while making appearances on radio and television in the City of Philadelphia.

One of the finer aspects of work between agencies in handling the grave intelligence responsibility for our Nation is the possibility of sincere and enduring friendships. We certainly treasure our relationship with you and deeply appreciate the continuing interest that you have shown in our activities.

While in Philadelphia on 11-12-63, I ran into Allen Dulles and had a rather lengthy discussion with him. He was in Philadelphia to publicize his new book on the CIA. While there he had three radio and two television shows. He told me that in all of his appearances he mentioned very favorably his association with the Director and the FBI.

As a matter of fact, the Philadelphia Inquirer this morning, 11-12-63, reported Dulles as stating, "The CIA is the overseas intelligence arm of the FBI." In mentioning this quote, Dulles told me that he did not know how McCone, the present Director, would take this, however, he felt it to be correct. He then went on to make some very commendatory remarks concerning the Director. He also mentioned, with praise, his association with Mr. Papich of our Liaison Section.

On 8-2-64, Allen W. Dulles, former Director of the Central Intelligence Agency, was interviewed on the "Opinion in the Capitol" segment of the Mark Evans Show (WRC-TV, Channel 4). In announcing Mr. Dulles, Evans noted that he had been appointed by the President to serve on the President's Commission to investigate the assassination and had been asked by President Johnson to join J. Edgar Hoover to investigate the circumstances surrounding the assassination.

In explaining his recent trip to Mississippi, Mr. Dulles noted that the President had asked him to go there to see what could be done. He noted that he did not go to Mississippi to investigate the disappearance of the three civil rights workers and stated that he felt this investigation was in "awful good hands." He then noted that J. Edgar Hoover is a very good friend of his and that this investigation couldn't be in better hands. He stated that Mr. Hoover said and he (Dulles) concurred that the three missing persons are gone. A question was raised by Evans whether the two bodies found in Mississippi were of two of the missing men; however, Mr. Dulles noted that he did not believe these were identifiable with any of the three missing workers.

Mr. Dulles stated that following his trip to Mississippi, he had made three recommendations to the President: (1) the maintenance of contact between the President and the Mississippi Governor so that any problems could be readily discussed and solved; (2) that the FBI beef up its representatives in Mississippi. He noted that since then Mr. Hoover had opened a new office in the state and had sent more people there; (3) a recommendation that the Northern people coming into Mississippi be better trained and that they include older people as chaperons. He also urged that these civil rights workers conduct themselves in a manner which would not be objectionable to the residents of Mississippi.

Mr. Dulles was questioned whether there was any communist activity in the civil rights unrest in the South, and he stated that he did not look into this matter as he felt this was in the FBI's field and was in good hands.

Re: ALLEN W. DULLES

Mr. Dulles noted that from Oswald's vantage point, the President was moving "down the line of vision" and not "across the line of vision" so that it was relatively easy to keep him in his sights.

Mr. Dulles was asked whether the Commission had found there was any dereliction on the part of the FBI. He answered that he had better leave that answer up to the report, and he noted that the report was full and completely fair in every way.

Mr. Dulles did not answer questions as to the recommendations the Commission would make regarding the President's wanting to meet and mix with people. He stated this was included in the report, but he did note that he felt the American people want to see the President protected rather than seeing him assassinated. He felt the job now was to get the people themselves to want the President to be protected, but he did not elaborate on how this could be accomplished. He stated that the Secret Service only has to protect the President against the lunatic fringe. In this regard, the administration should avoid too much announcement in advance of plans concerning the President's appearance at any particular place. He then elaborated on a number of past assassinations and attempts wherein the assassins obtained their information from advance announcements and all they had to do was show up at that time and place and make the attempt.

The purpose of this memorandum is to record information volunteered to SA Papich by Dulles on 6/28/64, relative to Dulles's recent trip to Mississippi.

Dulles advised that he personally was surprised that the President had selected him for the mission. Before leaving for Mississippi, he had a clear-cut understanding with the President that he would not become involved in any way whatsoever with investigation being conducted to determine the whereabouts of the three missing students. The President had emphasized to Dulles that he was to look into the over-all law enforcement picture and try to come up with recommendations which would not involve the use of U. S. Marshals or troops. Dulles described his meetings with the Governor of Mississippi, other subordinates, state officials, and several business and civic leaders. He was treated very cordially. The Governor invited him to stay at the Mansion, but Dulles politely declined. He explained that he was concerned that before he left, it might become necessary to confer with Negroes and obviously such discussions would never be condoned in the Governor's Mansion. He stayed at a local hotel and held most of his conferences in the U. S. Attorney's Office. He also had some talks with church leaders in the offices of a Catholic cathedral. Before he left Mississippi he was a guest at a dinner given by the Governor which included several state government officials and civic leaders. Everybody in this group was firmly opposed to the project which has led to Northern students coming into Mississippi.

The Governor and others referred to the pending Civil Rights legislation and asked Dulles if he would appeal to the President to delay the enforcement of the laws once they are enacted for an indefinite period. Dulles took the position that it would be impossible for the President to do so, explaining that once the legislation was law, it had to be enforced.

Dulles described his discussions with the Director prior to his departure for Mississippi and the discussion which he had with the Director while in the President's Office on 6/26/64. He referred to the recommendations which already have been publicized and commented that the Director possibly was irritated with him for recommending the "Beefing up" of Bureau personnel in Mississippi. The Agents only comment was that if the Director was displeased with any statement made by Dulles, he, Dulles would certainly hear from the Director. Dulles then explained that he had no other recourse because the President had made it very clear that he wanted to avoid the use of Marshals and Federal troops. In Dulles's opinion he could only see the Bureau as serving as a deterrent force representing the Federal government. He recognized that the situation in Mississippi is so explosive that it will be impossible for all law enforcement agencies, including the FBI, to eliminate the current threat to Northern student visitors.

Dulles advised that on 6/27/64 he conferred with leaders of the National Council of Churches. At this meeting, he emphatically told all present that although the church leaders claimed that they were training people in what appeared to be a noble mission, they should clearly understand that they were participating in a project which could lead to the deaths of any or all of these students going into Mississippi. Dulles stated that he made it clear that he wanted his views to go on record with the church leaders because he was acting on the instructions of the President. The church leaders advised Dulles that they recognized the gravity of the situation and that they would meet concerning this matter in New York City on the morning of 6/29/64.

Dulles volunteered some personal observations concerning the situation in Mississippi. He personally believes that the three students have been disposed of and he is inclined to discount the story that all of this may be a hoax. In his opinion, many of the people involved in the student training project are naive and completely incapable of appreciating or understanding the dangers in Mississippi. He thinks that most of the students are not mature enough to appreciate the realities involved. He also recognizes that some of these students are "Jerks" and are involved solely for adventure. He commented that worst of all so many of the integration leaders earnestly want incidents and will continue to provoke situations. Dulles is firmly convinced that such people want to force the President's hand so that he will have no alternative other than sending troops into Mississippi.

Dulles commented that he hoped he will not have to return to Mississippi and he personally believes it would be unwise for him to make another trip in that area in the immediate future. He was very complimentary concerning the reputation enjoyed by the Bureau in the South and he commented very favorably concerning the courtesies extended to him by the Resident Agent in Meridian, Mississippi.

(DULLES)

NEW YORK--FORMER CENTRAL INTELLIGENCE AGENCY (CIA) CHIEF ALLEN DULLES URGED THE ADMINISTRATION LAST NIGHT TO RELY LESS ON INTELLIGENCE OPERATIONS AND MORE ON GOVERNMENT ACTION IN FIGHTING COMMUNIST SUBVERSION.

DULLES SAID THE GREATEST DANGER TO THE FREE WORLD NO LONGER LIES IN THE MILITARY SPHERE BUT IN A WAR OF THE MINDS. HE CALLED FOR THE DEVELOPMENT OF EFFECTIVE POLICIES AND MACHINERY IN THIS KEY BATTLE.

THE FORMER CIA BOSS SPOKE TO 1,000 GUESTS OF THE FOREIGN POLICY ASSOCIATION AT A LUNCH SPONSORED BY THE PRIVATE, NON-PROFIT, NON-PARTIZAN ORGANIZATION DEVOTED TO CITIZEN EDUCATION IN WORLD AFFAIRS.

DULLES SAID THE UNITED STATES IS SO SUPERIOR TO RUSSIA IN MILITARY CAPABILITIES THAT SOVIET PREMIER NIKITA S. KHRUSHCHEV FEARS AN ALL-OUT WAR.

INSTEAD, HE SAID, THE SOVIET LEADER HAS DECIDED ON A PLAN OF INSIDIOUS CONQUEST THROUGH THE COMMUNIST PARTY'S WORLD-WIDE MACHINERY TO SUBVERT GOVERNMENTS.

HE SAID CUBA WAS A PRIME EXAMPLE AND ADDED: "IF WE TOLERATE A SUBVERTED, COMMUNIST CUBA AT OUR DOORSTEP--THAT HAS GIVEN (KHRUSHCHEV) A KEY TO TRY IT OUT ON A WORLDWIDE BASIS."

"IN THE PAST, TOO MUCH HAS BEEN ASKED OF THE CIA," DULLES SAID. HE SAID ITS SIZE AND THE NEED FOR SECRECY HAMPERED ITS OPERATIONS.

QUESTIONED FURTHER ABOUT CUBA, DULLES NOTED THAT AS A PRIVATE CITIZEN HE WOULD NOT ADVISE A SPECIFIC PLAN BUT COULD ONLY "ACT AS A PHYSICIAN DIAGNOSING A DISEASE, BUT NOT PROPOSING THE CURE."

ONE THING WAS OBVIOUSLY NEEDED, HOWEVER, HE ADDED: "ACTION." "THERE ARE AT LEAST A DOZEN COUNTRIES WHERE THE (COMMUNIST) PARTY IS A PRESENT DANGER," DULLES SAID.

Allen Dulles

DULLES— TEACH RED FACTS EARLY

Special to the ~~Herold~~ Tribune
ATLANTIC CITY, N. J.

Teach the hard facts early about the Communist program to undermine our liberties, said Allen W. Dulles, former Director of the Central Intelligence Agency. He pointed out that Lee Harvey Oswald "began to read Marxist literature in his early teens"—on his own.

But be careful what you teach or you'll be branded a Communist, said a National Education Association official. After all, a woman member of the Indiana State Board of Education came out against teaching about Robin Hood and His Merry Men because they "held communistic views."

PLAYTOYS, TOO

The NEA official is Miss Virginia Kinnaird, who is Associate Executive Secretary of the NEA Commission on Professional Rights and Responsibilities. Both she and Mr. Dulles spoke yesterday at the ~~annual~~ convention of the ~~NEA~~ Assn. of School Administrators, which has attracted 23,000 educators and guests.

Right wing groups such as the John Birch Society, Miss Kinnaird said, have demanded the schools remove everything from play-toys to J. D. Salinger from their tried to hound out of the system as communists those teachers who try to see that all sides of an issue are presented.

Since 1958, Miss Kinnaird said, "textbooks have come under fire in at least a third of our state legislatures. Numerous book battles have ensued in local communities. Publishers of textbooks, in order to sell their product, have too frequently succumbed to the pressures. In one instance a publishing house deleted an entire chapter on the United Nations from an eighth grade textbook."

POSSIBLE HARM

Mr. Dulles said that he realized that "the task of those who favor teaching the facts about communism have been thwarted because such teaching has too often been misrepresented as being teaching of communism."

In urging the early teaching of communism, Mr. Dulles said: "I recognize the harm that extremists at both the right and the left have done to the efforts of those who advocate more education about communist methods and techniques in our schools and colleges. I have no use for the extremes of McCarthyism and Birchism, although I recognize that many well-meaning, but misguided people have been deluded by their appeal."

Dulles contacted Special Agent Papich on the evening of November 17, 1964, and stated that he wished to express his sincere gratitude for the very kind note sent to him by the Director. He remarked that the message was most touching and that the letter was the first communication which he had received after entering the hospital. Dulles stated that he had returned to his home on the morning of November 17, 1964, that he was feeling much better but would continue undergoing some more tests. The vision in one eye has been partially impaired but Dulles has been told by his physician that this may be a temporary condition.

Dear Edgar:

I was deeply touched by your message of 12 November 1964, which I received the other day at the hospital. Your message was the first one I received after my attack, which briefly hospitalized me, and I send my heartfelt thanks.

I am feeling quite recovered and impatient to be at work again. I shall follow your wise advice and pay more attention in the future to doctor's orders.

With high admiration and respect, I remain

Faithfully yours,

The Liaison Agent has been reliably informed that Dulles' health has not improved and he definitely is "slowing up." Dulles suffered a slight stroke about two years ago and he never completely recovered. His vision was somewhat impaired and he has frequent lapses of memory.

His present state of health undoubtedly has been very much aggravated by the publications and articles which have been critical of the Warren Commission Report. Dulles feels that the criticism is most unjustified and he has been appealing to the other members of the Commission to counter this criticism. He has been unsuccessful in his efforts.

Plans are in progress to make a movie based on the book "The Secret Surrender," written by Allen Dulles and published in 1966. The book dealt with Dulles's experiences as an intelligence officer in World War II when he played a key role in events and negotiations which led to the Nazi surrender in Italy. Louis De Rochemont reportedly will handle production of the movie. Alec Guinness, well-known British actor, is currently being considered for playing the role of Dulles. Much of the filming will take place in Switzerland, where Dulles had been stationed during World War II. (S)(u)

SUBJECT: CLOVER TODD DULLES
(MRS. ALLEN W. DULLES)
INFORMATION CONCERNING

Deceased

O.C.

Md.

This recommends that an appropriate floral arrangement from the Director be forwarded in memory of Mrs. Dulles who passed away 4/15/74.

Allen W. Dulles (deceased 1/29/69) was the well-known and respected former Director of the Central Intelligence Agency (CIA) from 2/26/53 to 11/29/61. He was also the brother of the late Secretary of State John Foster Dulles. During his career at CIA Mr. Dulles was highly regarded by his associates in CIA and other U. S. agencies. The Bureau enjoyed a very warm relationship with Mr. Dulles during and after his tenure at CIA. In view of this, it is believed appropriate that a floral arrangement be sent from the Director in memory of Mrs. Dulles.

CIA has advised that Mrs. Dulles' funeral is tentatively arranged for the afternoon of 4/20/74 at the Georgetown Presbyterian Church, 3115 P Street, Northwest; however, this is subject to change and the funeral director has not yet been announced. CIA has advised that when this information and other pertinent details are available, it would be promptly furnished to Liaison.

RECOMMENDATION:

It is recommended that an appropriate floral arrangement from Clarence M. Kelley and associates be forwarded in memory of Mrs. Dulles.

Dear Mr. Kelley,

The pink and while flowers which you and your Associates sent on the occasion of my Mother's death were beautiful and much appreciated. It would have meant a lot to my father to know that the Bureau had been so thoughtful.

Allen Dulles Sincerely,

Dulles Defended Lying to Shield FBI and CIA

Book Quotes Late Spy Director as Saying
Practice Was Justified to Protect Agents

WASHINGTON (AP)—The late CIA Director Allen W. Dulles told the Warren Commission that the FBI and CIA directors might lie to anyone but the President to conceal identities of their undercover agents, according to recently declassified documents.

The documents are quoted in a book published Friday about the investigation of President John F. Kennedy's assassination entitled "White-wash IV" by Harold Weisberg, a Frederick, Md., writer and investigator.

He lost a suit against the government seeking release of the Dulles documents. However, the National Archives later declassified the information and sent him copies.

As a member of the Warren Commission, Dulles, who died in 1969, took part in a discussion on Jan. 27, 1964, about whether Directors J. Edgar Hoover of the FBI and John A. McCone of the CIA would answer truthfully if questioned about whether Lee Harvey Oswald had ever worked for either of their agencies.

The declassified documents included a verbatim transcript of that executive session of the commission.

"I think under any circumstances, I think Mr. Hoover would say certainly he didn't have anything to do with this fellow," said Dulles, who was no longer CIA director.

The book quotes Dulles as saying: "I would tell the President of the United States anything, yes, I am under his control . . . I wouldn't necessarily tell anybody else, unless the President authorized me to do it."

At one point in the discussion the book quotes the late Sen. Richard B. Russell (D-Ga.), saying to Dulles: "If Oswald never had assassinated the President, or at least been charged with assassinating the President and had been in the employ of the FBI and somebody had gone to the FBI, they would have denied he was an agent."

Dulles responded: "Oh, yes."

Russell then said: "They would be the first to deny it. Your agents would have done exactly the same thing."

Dulles said: "Exactly."
 Hoover told the commission when he was questioned on May 14, 1964: "I can most emphatically say that at no time was he (Oswald) ever an employee of the bureau in any capacity, either as an agent or as a special employee, or as an informant."

McCone was asked by the committee's general counsel, J. Lee Rankin, whether Oswald "had any connection with the CIA, informer, or indirectly as an employee, or any other capacity?"

McCone replied: "I have determined to my satisfaction that he had no such connection . . ."

Policy on C.I.A. and F.B.I. Lies Described by Allen Dulles in '64

WASHINGTON, Nov. 22 (AP) —The late Director of Central Intelligence, Allen W. Dulles, told the Warren Commission that the F.B.I. and C.I.A. directors might lie to anyone but the President to conceal identities of their undercover agents, according to recently declassified documents.

The documents are quoted in a book being published today about the investigation of President John F. Kennedy's assassination. The book, entitled "Whitewash IV," is by Harold Weisberg, a Frederick, Md., writer and investigator.

Mr. Weisberg lost a suit against the Government seeking release of the documents. However, the National Archives declassified the information and sent him copies.

Mr. Dulles, a member of the Warren Commission, who died in 1969, took part in a discussion Jan. 27, 1964, about whether J. Edgar Hoover, director of the Federal Bureau of Investigation, and John A. McCone, director of the Central Intelligence Agency, would truthfully answer questions on whether Lee Harvey Oswald had ever worked for either of their agencies.

The documents declassified included a verbatim transcript of that executive session of the commission.

"I think under any circumstances, I think Mr. Hoover would say certainly he didn't have anything to do with this fellow," said Mr. Dulles, who was no longer C.I.A. director at the time.

The book also quotes Mr. Dulles as saying, "I would tell the President of the United States anything, yes, I am under his control. I wouldn't necessarily tell anybody else, unless the President authorized me to do it."

At one point in the discussion the book quotes the late Senator Richard B. Russell as saying to Mr. Dulles: "If Oswald never had assassinated the President and had been in the employ of the F.B.I. and somebody had gone to the F.B.I., they would have denied he was an agent."

Mr. Dulles responded: "Oh, yes."

Mr. Russell, Democrat of Georgia, then said: "They would be the first to deny it. Your agents would have done exactly the same thing."

Mr. Dulles said: "Exactly."

Mr. Hoover told the commission when he was questioned on May 14, 1964:

"I can most emphatically say that at no time was he [Oswald] ever an employee of the bureau in any capacity, either as an agent or as a special employee, or as an informant."

Mr. McCone was asked by the committee's general counsel, J. Lee Rankin, whether Mr. Oswald "Had any connection with the C.I.A., informer, or indirectly as an employee, or any other capacity?"

Mr. McCone replied: "I determined to my satisfaction that he had no such connection."
